Weather, Labor Shortage Curb Bumper Harvest

The Alberta grain harvest took on the appearance of a national emergency today as the federal government released servicemen to help gather in the crops before winter strikes.

AMESBURY, Mass. (BUP)—Four tourists took it in stride when their automobile broke down here late at night. The travellers, all college students, pitched a tent and slept behind the nearby high school. In the morning they played tennis on the school's courts while a mechanic repaired the car.

RICH LAKE NEWS BRIEFS

School days have started again, with a teaching staff consisting of Miss M. Sanders teaching high school, and Mrs. L. Kumpula the intermediate school and Mrs. B. Johnson primary, with attendance of about 70 pupils.

Mr. Earl Whelen from Helena district is the van driver for the Helena school children.

R. A. EMERSON, of Montreal, a third-generation railwayman, has been appointed chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway. A graduate of the University of Manitoba, who took post-graduate studies at Yale, Mr. Emerson started permanently with the C.P.R. in 1935 in British Columbia.

Farm leaders throughout the province greeted the government's move, but were still pessimistic about chances of completing the harvest.

"It's still in the lap of the gods," declared O. S. Longman, Alberta's deputy agriculture minister. He said a solid month to six weeks of fine weather was needed to finish the job.

A late spring and wet summer, coupled with a September snowstorm and more rain last week set crops back almost a month and idled harvest crews just at the time they should have been working full out.

LABOR SCARCE

Added to hazards of the weather was a critical farm labor shortage, which Longman described as the worst he has ever seen.

Urgency of the situation was stressed by Roy C. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture. Marler said that "unless the weather improves during the next six weeks, over what it has been the past month, nearly 50 per cent of the crop will be left on the ground."

Even with the help of the military and a break from the weather, he doubted if all the crop would be gathered before winter.

The statistics division of the Alberta agriculture department said that on Sept. 30 only 7.8 per cent of the wheat, 3.8 per cent of the oats and 13.9 per cent of the barley had been threshed. About 75 per cent of the grain had been cut, but some 60 per cent was still in stock or swath on the ground, awaiting threshing crews.

Longman said harvesters had been idle the past 10 days due to rain. Previously the September snowstorm halted operations.

Grades were hit hard by the weather. Average grade of Alberta's 1951 wheat crop will be below No. 3 Northern, the department estimated.

Tactical air group headquarters in Edmonton announced a 14-day special harvest leave was being granted servicemen volunteering to help the farm emergency. The leave will be extended another 14 days, if necessary.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen volunteering throughout the three prairie provinces will receive regular military pay and allowances on top of their harvest pay from the farmers who employ them. Harvesters are averaging $12 a day in Alberta.

A military spokesman, enlarging on an Ottawa announcement by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton Saturday, added that the men would receive free transportation and meals while en route to harvest areas. They will also be protected by their pension act if injured while engaged in the harvest.

ATMORE NEWS BRIEFS

Duck hunters are being seen quite frequently trying to help the farmers save their crops. It's touch and go now with winter drawing nearer every day.

CORRECTION—

New Sidewalks In Lac la Biche

LAC LA BICHE—In the last issue of this paper there appeared an article on the construction of sidewalks in the town of Lac la Biche. This article was wrong in its entirety and we wish to make a correction.

The average cost of laying these sidewalks was $1.60 per lineal foot rather than the figure given in the previous article.

A Daniel Come to Judgement

Does the farmer own his land, If he has a clear title to his land he is the owner of it, but we are led to ask: What is land?

The provincial government, in order to protect the farmers and make sure that his land remains his land, passed a Sand and Gravel Act, which makes the farmer secure in the elements that go to make his land. There is a case at present before the courts, in which it is being argued that the sand and gravel on a farm are minerals and therefore come under the mineral rights clause in any land act.

A farmer buys a tract of land in Alberta, pays good money for it, pays taxes on it, but now they want to deprive him piecemeal of his very soil. There is sand and gravel in all land. Every small garden is full of some sand or gravel and the owners of farms and gardens are liable to spend a busy time sorting out what is theirs and what may be claimed by anybody who wants minerals!

In this case there is need for a Daniel to come to judgment! It should be the judgment of the courts, if the sand and gravel are declared minerals under the law, that anybody gaining the right to take them out should be forced to take them away without a single bit of "land" being harmed or removed. The land at least belongs to the farmer, only the sand and gravel can be removed!

To paraphrase from the "Merchant of Venice", this should be the law as expounded by a Daniel come to judgment:

Therefore prepare thee to take out thy sand and gravel. Take thou no land; nor take thou less nor more but just that amount which is legally thine. If thou takest less or more than the gravel and sand that is thine, thy contract is void and thou art liable for damages. Take the sand and gravel, but don't touch the land!—under threat of prosecution.

Edinburgh Blue Popular Color

The Duke of Edinburgh has succeeded to the place of the Duke of Windsor held in the fashionable world. Today the masculine portion of the population look to Edinburgh and not Paris or New York for their fashions.

The doughty sailor duke has set the fashion in color for men's wear—Edinburgh blue. The handsome and charming husband of Princess Elizabeth has all the qualities required to make him a style-leader. He dresses well, colorfully and, when the occasion dictates, informally.

Recognized as a British stylemaker, the duke has inspired an Edinburgh blue trend in this fall and winter men's clothing.

The influence of historic events on color is an interesting study. At the time of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, the whole of England dressed in royal purple. Purple dresses of varying degrees of shade, purple ties for the man, sweaters, gloves and even shoes. Canadians are not likely to go to extremes in this manner, it is predicted.

Worse Than DT's

It is with some diffidence that we offer to any seasoned soak the following cure for alcoholism now being tried out in Czechoslovakia.

It is—work, vitamins, orange juice and Marxist lectures. Seven weeks of 'em.

This recipe seems to work, according to Reuters. A refugee from the Czechs, interviewed in Vienna, turned down a drink, saying he couldn't touch it "after the lessons I got."

He told of receiving along with the "work and other stuff" lectures on the evils of drink and on political and economic subjects.

Now there's no magic in this recipe.

Vitamins and orange juice are old stuff, so are the lectures on teetotalism. Sometimes they work, sometimes they don't.

But the Czechs may have something in Marx that the West hasn't got. It sounds as if they've discovered a new shock treatment.

A solid seven-week series of spiels on the sorrows of socialism as suffered under the Soviets should scare anyone off the drink.

It would be worse than the DT's.

All About Beds

By JACK SCOTT

I am a guy who, when he reads through the back pages of any magazine, becomes dizzy with the wonderful advances in civilized living.

The front of the magazine may say we are going to annihilate ourselves with atom bombs in the next 10 years, but in the bright shining world of the advertisements to the rear there is page after page of proof that we will, at least, have reached a high degree of making life easier for ourselves in the few short years we have left.

If I had a trumpet I would give a crisp fanfare to the makers of pressure cookers, deodorants, aspirin, jockey shorts, electric lawnmowers, plastic dental plates, two-way stretch girdles and all the other advances in modern living which prove that life can be beautiful, if temporary.

And yet it seems to me that in all these blessings of inventiveness and "know how," as the Americans say, we have neglected one important aspect of modern civilization.

Nobody has yet invented a bed big enough for a grown man!

A scientific study of beds and their relationship to grown men, which I have been conducting for several years, indicates proof positive that men are getting larger all the time and beds are getting smaller. Were it possible to take a nocturnal peek into the bedrooms of any group of average red-blooded Canadian males I venture to say that nine out of ten would be found with their feet sticking out and looking mighty hideous, too.

Th every-day, double, or two-passenger bed is, itself, of a size in which only a drowsy midget could be thoroughly comfortable, but the beds on steamers and in hotels are the real curse of mankind.

In the last week I have spent five nights precariously clinging to make-up shelves. These so-called beds are not only short enough to suggest that they were designed for double amputees, but are so narrow that they make sleep impossible. A man must remain alertly awake and with a delicate sense of balance or risk a nasty fall.

Perched like a nervous canary on the upper ledge of a two-tier bunk the other night I let my mind go back to a bed I once slept in at a place called Tilburg in Holland. The Dutch may not have pressure cookers or plastic dental plates but, by the Lord Harry, they have beds that were made for comfort.

A fellow called Hec Stewart was billeted with me at that time in a middle-class Dutch home, and as we crawled into that immense bed on our first night he had hardly time to say "Good-night" before he sank slowly out of sight. I, myself disappeared out of the world of the living into a beautiful, bottomless, feathered pit.

On that very evening a paratroop attack was anticipated in Tilburg. The signal was to be the firing of two anti-aircraft guns less than a hundred yards from where we slept. During the night there was a false alarm that the Germans were dropping troops. The guns blazed for four minutes. Later in the evening the Germans shelled the town with a gigantic railway gun north of the town.

We learned all about it the next day after a night of uninterrupted sleep.

I haven't carried out any extensive investigation on the cause for the decline of the bed, but I will wager a small sum (say 15 cents) that it all began with the idiot who invented twin beds, probably one of the early interior decorators.

The twin bed is based on the theory that since two people may be comfortable in a double bed they may be equally comfortable, separately, a half-a-bed each, a fine piece of mathematical logic which has given many a man a sleepless night.

About the same time as the twin beds were coming on the market somebody else invented a chesterfield which makes up into couch. This particular invention is based on the theory that human beings can shorten themselves like a telescope, without permanent injury. Personally, I would as soon spend a night in an accordion case.

What I'm looking for now is a bed about nine feet square, a suitable roost for a man who hopes to spend the best years of his life horizontally.

Voice of the People

"VOX POPULI, VOX DEI"

PENSIONS DEAL

Dear Sir—Your editorial "Old Age Pensioners Anxious" is worthy of more than passing consideration, though it does not touch the main problem confronting many like ourselves in these days of soaring prices.

A few days ago we received a letter from the Hon. Paul Martin, minister of health and national welfare in regard to the forthcoming OAP legislation.

Having kept a record of newspaper pronouncements on this subject since the federal committee brought in their recommendations, we have waited for some pronouncement from our provincial government as it concerns the 65-69 age group.

In July last Hon. Paul Martin indicated that this group would need to wait for provincial announcements.

In August Premier Duplessis made it clear he would go along with this age group on the 50-50 basis. Ontario next announced endorsement, and their legislature met last week for that purpose. Premier Johnston of B.C. has made it plain that they will put through complimentary legislation for the 65-69 needy cases. Since then Premier Campbell of Manitoba has also agreed, and the house is to meet soon for this purpose.

I have the news clipping on hand, taken from Edmonton Journal.

Having occasion to write Mr. Martin about his letter to me, I told him of my surprise at his making no mention of this 65-69 age group when in Calgary and our city recently.

Moreover, not a word from Premier Manning, though Dr. Cross some time ago indicated he was in favor of the BEST that the country could do for their aged citizens.

Alberta is far ahead now financially of Manitoba. If Premier Campbell has enough faith and goodness of heart to consider their needy aged citizens between age 65 and 69, what in all conscience holds Alberta back from following suit with the provinces mentioned?

STRIKE PAY

Dear Sir—It will hardly seem reasonable to the millions of non-union Canadian wage and salary earners who have been contributing for the past 10 years a part of their weekly earnings to the Unemployment Insurance Fund that their money should be used to provide a form of strike pay to union sympathizers who refuse to work on the grounds that it is improper to cross a picket line.

Union leaders attending the recent Canadian Congress of Labor (CIO) convention in Vancouver urge Ottawa pay unemployment insurance benefits to anyone who refuses to cross a picket line and thus voluntarily accepts unemployment.

Seeking such special benefits for the members of the organized labor group is not the way to promote the even justice and harmony most Canadians desire. It might be noted that the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (AFL) refused to endorse a similar resolution on the grounds that unemployment benefits paid to workers refusing to cross a picket line would drain the Unemployment Insurance Fund. Most Canadians will feel that organized labor is able to apply pressure to obtain enough special concessions without seeking strike pay from the public purse.

POTENTIAL OIL RESERVES OF WORLD

By H. T. THOMPSON

MORAE. — The impression is foisted on the general public that improvement districts bear the same relation to organized districts and are viewed with the same attitude of the wealthy person to his poor relations: The relationship may be acknowledged but no personal obligation is felt or need be accepted. "NOT BEING RICH" is considered an affliction of poor judgment and bad management.

A careful study of the situation as concerns that portion of the New Beaver River Constituency with that of the old unorganized parts proves these impressions as false and based on a wrong concept of the whole tax structure.

Reviewing our member's speech on behalf of this constituency, reveals a strong inferiority complex in that his mild suggestion, presented to the legislators, contain no arguments for a more suitable share of money from the General Revenue fund to which we are heavy contributors.

The direct farm tax is low compared to Municipal Districts. However, we contribute a great deal more to the general revenue fund than is possible where the products of timber, fishing and fur farming and trapping are no longer available.

The timber industry has been and still is a large factor in government revenue. Saw mills from one end of the constituency to the other. Fees connected with the business is no minor item in the mill owners' costs of operation. Timber dues at $4.00 per thousand, even if only a million feet were cut, coupled with the PSV license fees on trucks which are necessary to the business with the gasoline tax—does make our claim for a larger share appear quite reasonable in view of the fact that very little improvement has been made except on a few main highways and very few of these can be used by the operators in getting their products to market. Bad roads add a heavy burden to these, accelerating high costs of operating.

I quote the above as an example of how we contribute to the general revenue fund, there are others such as the fishing, pulp wood, fur farming and trapping. Homestead and agricultural leases, hay permits, trapping licenses and fur trapping leases. This later item is a big thing in view of the fact that hardly a quarter section of open government land is not covered by trapping leases which cost the government nothing but by which the bonafide farmer and rancher pay heavy dues in losses from stock, destroyed by coyotes and wolves which are bred unmolested in these monopoly areas, because the market has no demand for long haired fur.

This poor relation inferiority complex attitude today is ridiculous, uncalled for and entirely wrong.

With the largest potential oil-bearing ground in the entire world, within the confines of our Beaver River Constituency, why beg, petition and grovel to paid civil servants for what is our just rights in improved roads. The by-products of our oil sands can provide at its source a cheap rate, the best surfacing in districts where roads are the worst in the province.

We could use better schools, telephone services, agricultural guidance in the grey weeded soils. Health is a factor that is an inheritance from hardy living conditions of a pioneer locality. At least a few of the services that are taken as a matter of course in the older settled lands of Alberta.

The black soil regions, first choice of the early settlers, have always ridiculed the grey wooded soils inhabitants of Lac la Biche and McMurray areas but will be first to acknowledge a belated relationship now the facts of our inheritance in the matter of oil is established.

The whole tax structure could stand some improvement of administration and stress lined to fit modern development with regard to giving our newer districts an equal chance for healthy growth from the products of their productive capacity, be it oil, grain, timber or any other natural element of its soils, minerals or waters. The back log of neglect and the argument of tax deficiency no longer applies. The well developed south can afford a return in services, the source of which has been drained from the products of the North Country.

Site Of Courtship Used To Name Baby

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5—(BUP) Tyrone Power and his actress wife, Linda Christian, used the site of their European courtship and marriage today as a name for their new-born daughter.

The six-pound 11-ounce girl, born to Miss Christian at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Tuesday, was named Romina Francesca.

Power said the baby, their first, was named Romina after Rome, where he met and wooed Miss Christian, and Francesca after the church in Rome where they were married Jan. 27, 1948.

Dr. Milton Krohn said both Miss Christian and the baby were doing well. The actress lost an expected child a year ago.

Flying To Canada Royal Couple Will Return By Ship

OTTAWA.—(BUP) — Tentative plans called today for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to return to Britain by sea from their month-long tour of Canada. Officials said the Royal Couple may fly home, however.

Canadian and British officials charged with arranging transportation for the Princess and her husband said the present plan was for them to leave Bay Bulls, Nfld., Nov. 12, aboard the Empress of Scotland.

The officials added, however, that other departure plans were being considered.

The Royal Couple was originally scheduled to sail from Bay Bulls on the Empress of Canada. The when the King's operation forced a one-week postponement of the tour.

The Princess and Duke are scheduled to arrive at Montreal's Dorval airport aboard a British Overseas Airways Corporation Stratocruiser Oct. 8.

Outwits Glamor Girls At Getting Men

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD—A girl who never has won a beauty contest in her life said today she has more luck with men than most of the glamour gals around town — and she thinks she knows why.

"The beauty queens never manage to forget they're gorgeous," Mary Wicks explained. "Me, I never was . . . so I just go along acting natural.

"And the men seem to like it. Anyway, I've always had plenty of 'em."

Miss Wicks, who's around 30 and a bright light in "On Moonlight Bay," may be no rarin', tear-in' beauty, but she's one of the country's top character actresses and comedienne.

CHANGE THEIR MEN

And she has a lot more fun than most of the world-famous glamour gals who switch men as often as they change the color of their hair.

"They're always working at 'how to get a man,'" Miss Wicks shrugged. "They work so hard at it they forget to be themselves. They spend all day being glamorous in front of the camera—and then go right on acting the same part at night."

That, she thinks, is where all the luscious ladies make their big mistake.

"Sooner or later all that beauty's gonna go," she grinned. "And then where are you? Right down to the real you, that's where.

"That's what a man's gonna have to live with eventually. So why not start cultivating it from the beginning?"

Miss Wicks says you don't have to be a glamour girl to hold your man. Or even get him in the first place.

"Look at the wives of the top actors," she pointed out. They're all fairly attractive—but very few of 'em have the kind of beauty that takes a man's breath away.

"But they're fun to be with . . . they're stimulating . . . they know how to laugh . . . and they have other things on their minds besides worrying if their false eyelashes are on straight."

Being a movie queen has other disadvantages, too.

"All day long they dramatize situations for the camera," Miss Wicks pointed out. "They're so used to making a big production out of everything they unconsciously keep on acting even on dates.

"They can't relax. They're al-

Witnesses said the plane streaked out of a thundercloud and plummeted into a rock ledge.

Air Force officials said the pilot's tunic was blown intact from the plane. Not even a row of service ribbons was dirtied. However, no trace of the pilot was found and it is believed he was blown from the plane when it exploded.

The RCAF said the plane was on a flight from Winnipeg to Montreal. They have not released the name of its pilot. Crash investigators said the largest piece of metal salvaged from the plane was less than three feet long.

Gov't Hospital Aid Offsets Rate Hikes

Alberta today announced fresh financial assistance for hospitals, totalling $300,000, to help them defray increased costs.

Four Years In Jail For Planting Bomb

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (BUP)—Alex Adorjan, a miner from East Coulee, Alberta, was sentenced yesterday to four years in Prince Albert penitentiary.

He pleaded guilty in Drumheller to placing dynamite in the East Coulee home of Mrs. Mary Juhasz, with intent to do bodily harm.

The court was told that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police found two home-made bombs, one in the woman's bed and the other in a woodpile.

Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross said extra per diem allowances would be made for maternity cases, hospitalized old age pensioners and hospitalized recipients of mother's allowance and dependents of this group.

The minister said the next session of the legislature early in 1952 would be asked to approve additional appropriations to provide similar extra allowances for hospitalized indigents in the province.

Extra allowances announced today consisted of $1.25 for class A. hospitals, increasing the provincial grant to $7.45 daily; 75 cents for class C. hospitals, raising the total to $6.45; and 50 cents for class D. and E. hospitals, raising their grants to $5.95.

Cross said the extra maternity award covered care of the mothers but not their newborn. Edmonton and Calgary hospitals were expected to benefit most from the new rates.

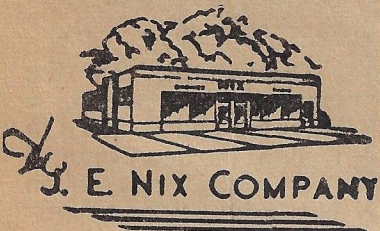

Officials recalled public ward rates in class A. Alberta hospitals were recently raised to $7.50 per day. The new scale of grants will take care of all this amount except five cents.

Manning Vetoes Suggestion For Liquor Law Probe

Premier E. C. Manning threw cold water on a suggestion that a Royal Commission be formed to investigate standardization of Canadian liquor laws.

Manning said at his weekly press conference that different provincial governments and the federal government presently administer the nation's liquor laws.

"If we are going to be realistic," he added, "we have to realize that a Royal Commission trying to deal with such a varied jurisdiction has faint hope of devising any recommendations that could be implemented throughout Canada."

Manning commented on a report that Manitoba is favoring a Royal Commission on liquor regulations. He said Alberta was not opposed to such a commission, because the situation regarding liquor laws was "serious enough." But he added that Alberta did not believe a commission would be able to satisfy all provinces presently administering their own liquor laws.

Smokers Turning To Forty Cent Brands

Edmonton smokers were reported turning to 40-cent brands of cigarettes this week following the price boost to 42 cents by one tobacco manufacturer.

One tobacco wholesaler also said that retailers charging 42 cents for cigarettes were "profiteering" as the new higher price of stocks had not yet arrived in the city.

Imperial Tobacco company has thus far been the only firm to raise its cigarette prices.

It was reported there would be no price boost for cigars and other tobacco products.

Outlook For Crops Improved By 3 Days Of Hot Weather

The prairie farmer, beset by snow as late as June and as early as September, can expect a bumper crop of relatively high grade grade despite the vagueries of the weatherman.

This was the consensus among grain men here who regarded the past three days of hot dry weather as a poker player who draws to an inside straight.

They said another day of warm weather would have a profound effect on harvesting operations that already were being resumed in some areas for the first time in many days.

It was unlikely the weatherman would cooperate to everybody's satisfaction. The forecast was for rain in Saskatchewan "as far east as Regina" and into Manitoba with cloudy but warm weather in Alberta.

"Another day or so of this weather and harvesting will be general across the prairies, especially on the uncut crop."

DRAMATIC evidence of Toronto's changing skyline is seen in this unusual picture of the new Bank of Nova Scotia building. The new bank structure represents an important contribution to Canada's economic life. Important figures in the financial and political world were present at its opening last week.

No Hockey Game For Royal Couple

A new switch in plans to treat Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to a sporting event in Edmonton was announced by the local Royal tour committee.

The committee is still waiting to see whether the original plan of staging a Western Conference football game will be possible. But a one-week delay in the Royal tour forced the committee to consider other alternatives.

The committee had announced it was looking into the possibility of having the Royal couple see a hockey game featuring the Pacific Coast league. However, Hon. C. E. Gerhart, committee chairman, said the Princess and her husband have been invited to a hockey match in Eastern Canada.

He said plans now are to stage an Alberta Junior Football league game if the Western Conference games proves impossible. The hockey match is out.

Chances for a Western Conference game appear better with the Edmonton Eskimos reduced from a six to a two-point first place lead in the standings. If they wind up in second place, they will be pitted against the third place club in a sudden-death play-off Oct. 17—the day the Royal couple visit Edmonton.

BLUE JAY NEWS BRIEFS

"Education, that's for us," say the girls from Blue Jay, "at least as far as teaching is concerned."

The local belles who are entertaining these ideas are Miss Kay Gregus, Miss Rose Ilnicki and Miss Ann Blonski, who are supervising at Spruce Valley, Bouvier and Frains West, respectively.

There are six students attending High School at Grassland, four of whom intend to graduate at the end of this term.

A number of the more confident farmers are apparently set on beating "Old Man Winter" to this year's bumper crop. Several new threshing machines and combines have been purchased in this district.

Time Out FOR Laughs

Mark Twain was once visiting a hill woman who had just given birth to twins. "This one is a girl, isn't it?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"And is the other one of the contrary sex?"

"Yes, sir, she's a girl, too."

Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who are not nearly good enough . . . so that they can have grandchildren who are smarter than anybody's.

Commenting on the state of the world, a Navajo philosopher in Gallup, Mexico, summed it up pretty neatly when he said: "Too many chiefs — not enough Indians."

CANCER RESEARCH LABORATORY
TO OPEN OCT. 20, IN EDMONTON

Official sod-turning ceremony for the new Dr. John S. McEachern Cancer Laboratory in Edmonton, will be held on the morning of Saturday, October 20th, in conjunction with the Fall Convocation of the University of Alberta, it was announced this week in Calgary by R.N. Talbot, Executive Director of the Alberta Division, Canadian Cancer Society.

Prominent at the ceremony will be Mrs. J. S. McEachern, widow of the late Dr. J. S. McEachern of Calgary, who was one of the founders of the Canadian Cancer Society and in whose honour the new laboratory will be named. The Chancellor and Senate of the University and the Board of Directors of the Society will also attend.

The laboratory, which will cost over $200,000.00, has been made possible through the funds contributed by Alberta people to Annual Cancer Crusade, which this year realized over $196,000.00. It will concentrate, for the first time in Alberta's medical history, cancer research work under one roof, where necessary technical requirements will be available to research workers. It will be a building complete with project rooms for individual workers' experiments, isotope laboratory, operation and sterilization room, X-Ray facilities, and much of the equipment modern science has provided for the researcher.

ties, and much of the equipment modern science has provided for the researcher.

This project is possibly the most ambitious ever undertaken by a non-Government organization in Canada, and is made possible through the support the Canadian Cancer Society has received in its Cancer Crusades during the past five years.

The original cost of the laboratory was expected to be only $150,000.00, but increased costs have now raised the cost of the building, and the Society is making efforts to make the further funds available. These additional funds will be asked for during the 1952 Cancer Crusade.

T.B. Association
Essay Contest

The Alberta Tuberculosis Association is sponsoring for the third consecutive year an essay contest for students in grades seven to 12 in Alberta schools, it was announced by officials of the association. Information concerning the contest will be sent out to schools in all parts of the province and closing date for entries has been set at Dec. 22.

Purpose of the contest is to provide reliable information about tuberculosis and public health and to familiarize students with Alberta's tuberculosis program. It is planned to make this a group activity with entries to be the result of combined class studies rather than individual efforts.

Judges for the event will be Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education; Dr. G. R. Davison, director of the tuberculosis division, Alberta Department of Public Health, and E. C. Ansley, executive secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

Prize money totalling $1,500 will be awarded to prize-winning classes in schools and may be had in the form of additional sports equipment, radio - phonographs, libraries, etc. With greater interest being shown in the contest this year, TB officials expect a record entry in all divisions. Entire cost of the project is being defrayed from Christmas Seal funds as part of the health education program of the association.

The Lighter Side

Worn on Festive Occasions

Clerk — Will one collar be enough, madam?

Old Woman (indignant)—Well such foolishness. Do you think I've got more than one husband?

Reminder

The indignant man was shown into the lawyer's office.

"Look here," he burst out, "you've charged me for two consultations on the fifth of last month and I was only here once."

"The fifth of last month," said the solicitor, smoothly. "That was Friday and if I remember correctly it was a very wet day, wasn't it?"

"Yes, it was," answered the client, shortly.

"Well, after you left you came back to ask if you had left your umbrella here."

Faithful

"Will you still love me when my hair has turned grey?"

"Well, darling, I have stuck to you through brown, black, gold, red and platinum, haven't I?"

Lot of Truth to This

A man who went to the doctor's office was somewhat surprised when the nurse told him to step in the next room and remove his clothes.

"But nurse," he started in a hoarse whisper, "it's my throat."

"Please do as I tell you," snapped the nurse, "or I shall be forced to cancel your appointment."

So, shrugging his shoulders, he went into the next room and there sat a young fellow who was looking very uncomfortable and quite naked except for a large parcel he held across his knees.

"Doesn't that beat everything?" said the man removing his coat. "I come in here with a sore throat and I have to take my clothes off."

"What are you beefing about?" was the reply. "I just came in here to deliver this parcel!"

Loud!

She: "Doesn't a still, small voice tell you when you do wrong?"

He: "No, a loud, large voice does—I'm married."

WITH EACH passing day it looks as if one of the Toronto Maple Leaf rookies will have to take over the man-sized job of filling Bill Barilko's boots. Barilko, missing since Aug. 26 on an aerial fishing trip to James Bay, from Timmins, Ont., was the guy who fired the goal which gave the Leafs the Stanley Cup last year. Trio of Frank Mathers (centre), Hugh Bolton (left), and Tim Horton are seen examining sweater belonging to Barilko which one day may belong to one of them.

British Election Issues Familiar To Canadians

By HARRY FERGUSON
(British United Press Foreign News Editor)

The British and Canadian election systems are similar, and the issues on which the voters pass are about the same. Britons go to the polls Oct. 25. The things they are excited about will sound familiar to Canadians:

1. The high cost of living.
2. Heavy taxes that have been levied because of the necessity to arm against the threat of Communist aggression.
3. The vague fear that any government that makes a mis-step will plunge the nation into World War III.

There are several political parties in Britain, but only two have a chance of getting enough votes to control the country—the Labor party and the Conservative party. The Labor party is what its name indicates. It is by, of and for the worker. It is committed to taking care of every Briton from the cradle to the grave, and it assures the voters that if they will work hard, and turn over a sizeable portion of their earnings to the government they will have nothing to worry about. Medical services, false teeth, insurance — everything will be on the house.

The Conservative party puts more emphasis on free enterprise and the right of the individual to work out his own destiny, although it probably would retain many of the social welfare projects established by the Labor government. In the popular mind the Conservative party means the bull-dog figure of Winston Churchill who will become prime minister in event of a Conservative victory.

Betting right now favors the Conservatives. The principal reason is that the Labor party has been in power long enough for it to make lots of enemies, inside and outside of its own ranks. The Labor leaders are busy right now trying to patch up their own differences and go into the final weeks of the campaign with a united front.

The Labor party will try to convince the voters that it is the "party of peace" and the Conservatives are "the war party." It will picture Churchill as the war-time prime minister who would like to be the same again—this time against the Russians.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Allies Bombard Enemy Positions In North Korea

TOKYO — (BUP) — American and British artillery opened an earthshaking bombardment of enemy positions in Korea Tuesday night. The barrage followed an explosion of action all along the 140-mile length of the Korean front. The Eighth Army said massed Allied artillery opened up on the enemy at several points, dumping thousands of rounds of shells into enemy positions.

In the air war, outnumbered Allied F-86 Sabre jets shot down six Russian-made MG-15's Tuesday. They also scored a "probable" which would make the Communist air defeat the most crushing since last December 22, when six enemy jets were destroyed.

In Tokyo, General Omar Bradley has conferred with General Matthew Ridgway and Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief of the United Nations truce team. Allied headquarters, which announced the meeting, said Bradley indicated he was highly impressed with the morale of the Eighth Army in Korea.

Apartment Owner Pleads Guilty In Conspiracy Plot

VANCOUVER, B.C. — (BUP) — A Vancouver apartment house owner pleaded guilty to conspiracy in connection with a plot to burn the three-storey structure he owned.

Anders Almhjell, 47, was one of three men charged in connection with the blaze which gutted the building early Aug. 19, causing $10,000 damage and forcing tenants to flee.

The three men were remanded until Friday. Julius Dyck, 58, a painter, and Nels Rosenberg, 56, now living aboard a boathouse on the Kitsilano Indian reserve, did not enter a plea.

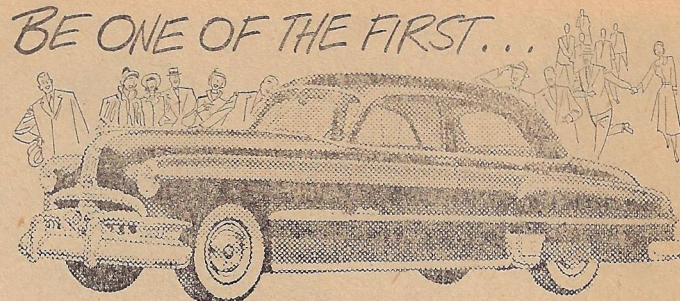

Police said the arrests came after Almhjell quarreled with his alleged confederates over the payoff.

Many Arrested In Argentine Revolt

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — (BUP)—An undisclosed number of Argentine opposition political party leaders were reported under arrest today as a result of Friday's short-lived revolt against President Juan D. Peron.

A group of army and air force officers, charged with leading the uprising, were on trial for their lives before a special "supreme council."

All major political parties opposing Peron reported yesterday that some of their leaders had been arrested and held incommunicado. Pro-government newspapers charged opposition leaders supported the revolt.

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa:

I have a mother, who is very vivacious and popular but she is very noisy. She embarrasses me in public places by her loud remarks, making all of us conspicuous.

I have reached the point where I hate to go places with her but I cannot tell her the real reason because I hate to hurt her feelings. She thinks I am very shy and is always trying to push me into doing things I don't want to do.

I would be perfectly happy if she would only let me alone, so that I could have friends I like and go to the places I want to go without worrying about being a society butterfly.

How can I tell her all this without hurting her feelings?

DEVOTED DAUGHTER.

Answer:

Your mother is evidently an extrovert and you are an introvert and the two of you naturally do not see eye to eye about things and people.

The more she pushes you into doing the things you dislike the more anti-social you become. If she would let you alone to do the things you like, everyone would be happier but she simply cannot understand how anyone likes to be alone or quiet.

Why don't you explain to her how you feel about your social life? Tell her that you enjoy being quiet and you do not feel left out of things when you are not the life of the party.

She, naturally, is trying to make you happy and if she can be made to understand what your idea of happiness is, perhaps she will stop trying to make you the popularity kid.

LOUISA.

U.S.-Canada Co-operation Urged To Spur Industry

CALGARY, Alta. — Oct. 5 — Development of North American industry and natural resources has created the need for closer economic co-operation than ever before by Canada and the United States, according to a U.S. oil executive.

John R. Suman, a vice-president and director of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), advanced the opinion in an address to the Western annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy in Calgary.

He said, "this co-operation cannot be on the basis of one country supplying the materials and the other doing the processing, since such a partnership would be economically wasteful as well as distasteful."

REMOVE BARRIERS

"Instead," said Suman, "the processing should be done where it can be done most economically, and as many barriers to efficiency and economy as possible should be removed.

"In a great many cases," the American official said, "this will probably mean that the rate of growth of processing industries over the next few years will be more marked in Canada than in the United States."

Suman said that raw materials producing industries are constantly spurred to new peaks by the demands of the factories, because "North American manufacturing industry has grown at a terrific rate."

He said this situation faced by Canada and the United States called for a marked expansion of industry, and particularly industries

IN HOLLYWOOD

Prefers College Men to Movie Stars

By VIRGINIA MACPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Take it from Peggy Dow, "Movie stars are fun to date, but college men are more human."

The blond and glamorous Peggy should know. She dates them both.

"Men in the movies, by their very nature, have to think and talk a lot about themselves," the stately actress said on the set of Samuel Goldwyn's "I Want You," in which she co-stars with Dana Andrews, Dorothy McGuire and Farley Granger.

"Naturally, that carries over into their dates, and just as naturally, it can get pretty tiresome."

"The college men I date are interested in a world of subjects besides themselves."

"Because they don't have to be 'on,' as we say of one who more or less is acting all the time, they can afford to be natural, relaxed and human. A lot of the kids I see at campus parties are studying to be engineers, scientists, farmers and business men."

"They have a huge variety of interests. They're just plain interesting."

"Actors are actors, first and last. If they're not talking about their own performances, they are discussing yours, or someone else's. It can get pretty boring. It does."

Miss Dow has been linked rowhich discover and develop the continent's natural resources.

All elements of the Canadian economy have participated in an expansion of capacity since the Second World War, according to Suman, "but the most important growth has been in manufacturing and natural resources development."

Suman, a past president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, said he had never seen more startling or significant developments than those which had come out of Canadian mineral industries in the last decade.
